It's Convention Time

By Chuck Bilbe

The 1993 Libertarian Party National Convention is set to take place in Salt Lake City from August 30th through September 5th. It promises to be an exciting convention, with activities to include a "Stamp Act Congress" session (a candidate training seminar) and series of hearings for the "Democracy Project." This project involves gathering testimony from people regarding the difficulty of third-party ballot access in this country. Armed with this information, Bob Waldrop, who is coordinating the project, will submit his findings to signatories of the Helsinki agreement. He is hoping to draw attention to the fact that the United States may very well be in violation of this international human-rights agreement by virtue of its stringent ballot-access laws. The effort may embarrass the Federal Government into relaxing some of these laws.

In addition to the normal business of the convention, a large number of interesting speakers are scheduled, including Dr. Richard Stroup (free-market environmentalist), Dr. Mary J. Ruwart

The Colorado delegation consists of eighteen people this year. There are two or three delegate slots not yet taken, so if you have an interest in attending the convention as a delegate, please call a member of the state board (see directory on page 7).

Note: Due to the Convention, several members of the LP board will be absent. The CLiPboard will not publish a September issue, but will publish a combined September - October issue shortly following the convention.

From the Editor

by Chuck Bilbe

I hope you've liked the CLiPboard so far. This is my third issue, and I'm still finding out how much I don't know.

One thing's certain - I could still use some help. It would be great if anybody out there who has news, even if it's just a paragraph or two, to send it in. I've gotten good comments about the last two issues, mainly because the little news bits help to make the CLiPboard interesting to read.

I want to thank David Bryant for writing the two-article series on Carol Ward, and his many other contributions. He tells me that there are some other stories of government-related problems that he hasn't had time to follow up. If there's anybody out there who has a few hours to do the necessary legwork and interviewing to put some of these stories together, I would really appreciate it. Just call me (690-4565) or David Bryant (744-6577) and we'll sign you on as "cub reporter".

Thanks to my 12-year-old son Neal for this month's cartoon, and to 15-year-old Jeremy Levy for his article.

Since the National LP Convention is coming up and many of us will be out of town during the time normally dedicated to preparing the CLiPboard, the next issue will be mailed midway through September. This combined September-October issue will be full of convention news and election issues. Feel free to contribute any articles, letters, or news in the meantime.

Dear President Clinton:

I believe that the federal debt is the most serious problem facing this country today, and that the only way to control the growth of the debt is to cut government spending in actual dollars. We have all seen that cuts in projected spending increases do not reduce the deficit.

How serious are you about deficit reduction and cutting spending, Mr. President? I'm so serious that I hereby pledge $_____ to be applied to the federal debt, payable in the event that you are able to pass a budget that spends not a penny more than the previous year's federal budget.

Sincerely,

Note: Your name and pledge amount will not be released to the media. Only total pledges and number of participants will be reported. COPY this form before filling it out! Make several copies and give them to your friends. Mail them to the address above. Send a penny to the White House!

He Made Her Day!

According to a recent issue of the Rocky Mountain News, a Colorado Springs woman shot and critically wounded a stranger who broke into her home in a drunken rage. The man, who lived in local homeless shelters, began smashing the woman's doors as she warned him off. When the intruder began crawling headfirst into her kitchen through a torn screen, she shot him in the head. No charges will be filed against the woman. The article does not say, but we must assume that the taxpayers will be paying for the man's medical care.

— Boulder —

At the July 14th outreach meeting, Jerry Van Sickle brought in a group of Libertarians who have been active in the county at one time or another over the last 20 years for a panel discussion of their views of the past and future of the libertarian movement and the Libertarian Party. Also at the meeting new officers were elected, including Kevin Wilkerson as the chair.

The BCLP is getting involved with several local issues including fighting possible tax-increase proposals in November and opposing a recently-enacted set of restrictions on building in the mountains. They are also continuing ongoing efforts, such as cleaning up their "Adopt-a-Highway" and staffing an outreach booth on the Boulder Mall.

The next outreach meeting will be August 11th at 7 P.M. at Boulder's Old Train Depot at 30th and Pearl, following the 5 P.M. business meeting. The local activism group will meet August 17th at 6 P.M. at Coco's Restaurant at 28th & Iris. Contact the new BCLP Chair, Kevin Wilkerson at 443-1870 for more information.

— Denver —

At the monthly meeting on July 6th, Cable Access TV producer David Bruno and crew were on hand to videotape the meeting. Excerpts from the meeting will be seen as part of an upcoming "Equal Time" program about the Libertarian Party.

Petitions were circulated for Denver residents to sign supporting the Fair Ballot Access Bill (HR1755) and Debates Bill (HR1753) introduced in the House of Representatives by Tim Penny, D-Minnesota. Members were urged to call their Representatives to support these very important bills.

The Teach Colorado organization will be discontinuing their concession-stand agreement with the Colorado Rockies effective August 20th. The LP will be managing the stand for two more games: Friday July 30th and Wednesday August 18th. About $100 has been received so far for LP members' efforts.

Chuck Bilbe announced the "John Galt" project to bombard President Bill Clinton with copies of Ayn Rand's novel "Atlas Shrugged." See the related article on page 5 for more info.

The guest speaker was Jacob "Bumper" Hornberger, President of the The Future of Freedom Foundation. Bumper gave an inspirational talk on "Libertarianism and the Second Amendment." Bumper regretfully announced that he will soon be leaving Denver for Washington, D.C., where he hopes to be closer to the action, or as he puts it, "in the belly of the Beast."

The Denver LP meets the first Tuesday of each month at the Village Inn Restaurant, 890 S. Colorado Blvd. at 7:00 P.M. Contact David Segal at 296-4059 or Larry Hoffenberg at 755-4843 for more information.

— Aurora —

Aurora Libertarians were pleased to have a large turnout of 32 attendees at their June 22 meeting, to hear special guest speaker Marshall Fritz discuss "Dystechia: The Hidden Danger of Grade Levels". (See the accompanying article by Sandra Johnson on page 4)

The Arapahoe County voter registration list has been processed and shows 196 registered Libertarians in the county. According to David Aitken, more than 100 of these are people who are not currently on the LP mailing list.

A proposed $100 million Capital Improvement Project bond issue is being considered by the City of Aurora, subject to a vote on the November ballot. Also, the City of Aurora is considering becoming the City and County of Aurora. More to come on these issues at future meetings.

The July 20th meeting will feature Mark Culverhouse, Director of the Colorado chapter of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML).

Aurora Libertarians meet the third Tuesday of every month at Archie Malone's Restaurant at Iliff & Buckley, 7:00 p.m. Call Chuck Bilbe at 690-4565 or Larry Hoffenberg at 755-4843 for more information.

Marshall Fritz on Schools

by Sandra Johnson

Marshall Fritz presented a stimulating talk on education to the Aurora Libertarians on June 22, 1993. He described our population marching in lockstep lacking individual thought and behavior. The quality of education is crumbling, and rebellion (crime, antisocial behavior) or submissiveness is prevalent. Why? Parents, schools and confused societal values all play key roles in both the problems and the solutions.

First, a look at what's wrong. Parents usurp the rights of children by trying to force a certain occupation, culture or spirituality upon their children. Parental sloth and permissiveness in character-building creates confusion in children.

Most schools severely usurp the rights of children through required grade levels – where they must stay ahead of the slowest ten percent – and oppressive “standardized” curricula presented at a standardized pace by a standardized teacher. Why are we surprised when the result is a passive “standardized” child? The schools most often do not teach the same moral system of values as that of the children's parents, in fact the state schools have abandoned character education altogether. The predictable result is more confusion in our children.

What's right in education? Parents who allow their children choices in academics, occupation, culture and spirituality. They who focus on a child's gifts and forget about balance until later. Parents who allow an Einstein to focus on physics or a Pele to focus on soccer. Parents also need to build character by requiring a child to respond to a correction the first time in a reasonable way, with respect, and with action related to the problem.

Schools are successful when they create an atmosphere of student-initiated academics, as the Montessori schools do. When children are curious and excited about something they will learn a great deal about it. Force-feeding standardized material creates boredom, kills creativity and initiative, and almost guarantees failure. School success is seen when the focus is on each child's gifts and interests; they teach themselves. Think about how you teach a baby to roll over or to walk: you don't. The baby just does it. The same holds true in school. Success in school is much more likely when the schools teach the same values as those of the parents. State-run schools cannot do this.

In summary, most public schools today do not build character and they require “exposure” to a stifling standardized curriculum. The ideal school, in contrast, has a high element of character education along with great academic freedom for the children.

For some excellent reading on education, read The Quality School by William Glasser, M.D. (Harper, Collins) and Dumbing Us Down by John Taylor Gatto (New Society Press).

Speaker's Bureau Volunteer Needed

by Rick Shaw

It's been five years or so since I decided to get involved in the mainstream party operations, and I've gotta say that this is the best board I've ever seen. The people really click when they get together; plenty of enthusiasm and ideas. I want to show the party members that we can finally get some things done.

One of the criticisms that I have heard over the years is that board members don't know how to delegate tasks. This was certainly true in some cases. However, the flip side of that is that to be able to delegate tasks, you have to have people to delegate them to. In other words, if you want us to make progress, you have to be willing to volunteer some time.

For a long time, we have needed to run a speaker's bureau. There are a lot of community and business organizations out there that need speakers on a monthly basis. We could take advantage of their needs in order to get our message out to "regular" people (instead of sitting around telling each other). We do have some folks who have volunteered to speak, but I need someone to help organize the whole thing.

Someone in the party must know something about setting up public speaking engagements. Were you a debater in college? Do you want to work the political circuit one day? Here's a chance to put your talents to work and sharpen your skills. If you have a few hours each month to give, and this is something you are passionate about, please give me a call. We need your help to get our message out.

Let's Send John Galt to Washington!

Let's bombard President Bill Clinton with copies of Ayn Rand's novel Atlas Shrugged. Special arrangements have been made with Laissez-Faire Books (1-800 326-0996) and they will send a cover letter in your name to Bill along with your book, for $8.95, including shipping. If you choose to buy your copy from another source, we ask you to send a note acknowledging the fact to 13552 Virgo Dr., Littleton, CO 80124. We will be using this information to track the total number of copies sent. Help spread the word! Call the Rush Limbaugh program (1-800-282-2882 from 10:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.) and discuss the project.

CLP Has a Fund Raiser

The CLP board of directors are pleased to announce that Ray Hambric has been selected to fill the position of Fundraising director. Mr. Hambric brings a great deal of fundraising experience to the CLP. This makes Colorado and New Hampshire the only two states with a fundraising director on the state board. Let's hope we can have the kind of success they've had in the Granite State!

Volunteers Needed

The Colorado Libertarian Party will have an information booth at the Self-Reliance Expo '93, to be held at the Denver Coliseum from September 16 thru 19. We need volunteers to staff the booth. Please call Chuck Bilbe, (303) 690-4565 if you can spare a few hours on any of the four days.

Government: The Biggest Drug Pusher

by Jeremy Levy

The first course of action in the fight for a drug-free future is the legalization of narcotics. We would have more trust in a government that protects us from others, not ourselves. Our bodies belong to us and when our own government tells us we can't put substances, no matter how bad or poisonous, into our body, it shows that we don't own our own bodies but the government bureaucrats do. We take better care of our property than we take care of politicians' and bureaucrats' property. Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union are two countries where government bureaucrats owned the bodies of their citizens. They are not very good role models for the American people. Our American forefathers are better role models. Drugs weren't prevalent in early American history and we didn't have government controlling what we put into our bodies. Without big government watching over us we became the greatest, relatively drug-free society in the world. We should follow the model of our forefathers and not the models of Nazi Germany and Russia, to lessen the bad effects of drugs.

If we really want to discourage or eliminate drug abuse in our society, we should encourage the government to enter the field. It worked in the Soviet Union. When the Russian Communists took the farms away from the people, and the government tried to produce food, production plummeted and millions died of starvation. The same can be done with the narcotics industry. On a 20/20 news report the British government provided addicts with free narcotics. Crime dropped by a large percentage because drug abusers didn't have to pay high prices for the product and they lost their motivation for crime. The number of new AIDS cases fell to almost zero because the drug users were supplied with clean needles by the government. The number of new users entering the market plummeted because the drug suppliers lost their economic incentive for bringing in new users and the British socialist government didn't bring in many new users.

The third course of action is for the private sector, not the "public" sector to inform people how bad narcotics really are and what they do to people. This should be done by people, not the government. People should do this because they love their fellow American citizens and not because they want to create another government bureaucracy that robs us of our social and economic freedom. Drugs do a lot of bad and without government manipulation, very few people would take drugs. The subject matter of not using drugs is very salable and would be done on a voluntary basis if our government overlords were less involved in making drugs a profitable field of endeavor for both the drug lords and themselves. An American by the name of Martin Luther King Jr. said, "Unconditional truth and unbridled love will eventually overcome." He was talking about governmental and civil violence against the people of color. The principle also applies in the field of narcotics use.

Jeremy Levy, a 15-year-old high-school sophomore in Aurora, won a $1,000 scholarship for this essay in a contest sponsored by Pepsi-Cola and King Soopers. Jeremy enjoys spending his weekends running a 5K or 7K race. When he grows up he would like to be a radio, newspaper or TV writer.

A New Kind of MAID

Mothers Against the Illegalization of Drugs (MAID) is an organization of mothers and concerned others whose purpose is to inform and educate people as to the unfortunate effects of the government's war on drugs, particularly for the family.

The goal of MAID is to set up chapters in all 50 states plus the district of Columbia and to attack this issue at both the state and Federal levels. Each chapter will gather signatures and send them to President Clinton and to their governors, Senators, and Representatives. They will follow up with phone calls, FAXes, additional letters, etc. Each chapter will report to the national office of MAID every month to report on their progress (i.e. publicity you have received, stories that reflect harm done to people as a result of the War on Drugs). Also, members will target both the print and electronic media by writing letters to their local newspapers and contacting their local television stations for coverage.

To get a copy of the resolution or for more information, write Dickens Press, P.O. Box 4289, Irvine, CA 92716 or call (voice or FAX) (714) 856-3533.

Be Kind to Lawyers Week?

No longer will we be able to see lawyers being lassoed and tied in the "lawyer roundup" commercial by Miller Brewing Company. The company has recently taken the ad off the air. Apparently since Gian Luigi Ferri walked into a law office building and killed eight people, it has become passé to make fun of lawyers. "After the tragedy in San Francisco we felt it appropriate to take the action," said Miller's marketing communications manager Susan Henderson. Perhaps she was really taking a cue from Harvey Saferstein, the president of the California Bar Association, who publicly called for the establishment of "hate crime" laws for attacks on lawyers and for the restriction of related "hate speech" on the grounds that the members of the legal profession are getting discriminated against. With statements like this, Mr. Saferstein evidently expects to win over all those insensitive people who've picking on lawyers. Not likely. Know any good lawyer jokes?
