Liberty Summer Conferences and Camps

By Ken Schoolland

Libertarians might find some lively summer fun teaching English, economics, psychology, entrepreneurship, or other specialties at conferences and camps in Eastern Europe. My family has participated in these events for several years, most recently for two weeks with more than a hundred university students and faculty from Belarus at the summer resort of Trakai, Lithuania.

My wife, Li, gave talks about life in China during the Cultural Revolution. My daughter, Kenli, spoke on various economics topics concerning “public goods.” I delivered presentations about the current monetary crisis, immigration, and challenges to income redistribution.

Other speakers filled out the program, including the young libertarians, professors, former executives of the Lithuanian Free Market Institute, who have just been appointed as Minister of Justice and Minister of Education in Lithuania. Some countries of Eastern Europe are leaving American market reforms in the dust!

In addition to presentations, small group discussions, and debates throughout the day, the atmosphere is that of a summer camp with volleyball, lake swimming, music and dancing in the evenings, yoga in the morning, opera at the Trakai Castle, a swamp hike, a trip to the Stalin World (a memorial to the horrors of communism), and even great food.

These events are organized by the International Society for Individual Liberty, the Lithuanian Free Market Institute, the Mises Center of Minsk, and the Language of Liberty Institute. Other camps have been held this summer in Poland, Slovakia, and the Republic of Georgia. Last year we attended the camp in Georgia one week before the Russian invasion. So it can be exciting.

Li is interested in organizing one of these conference/camps in China next year. If any of this interests you, please contact us for details. Aloha!

Many of you received this month's newsletter in brilliant color. However, if you are getting your LPH Newsletter by snail mail, our color pictures are coming to you in a sort of plain black and white. You can get full color and a more timely delivery if you get it in your email. Sooo.... Please send me your email if you want this more efficient delivery method. <mailto:Roger-Taylor@hawaii.rr.com>

A free issue of the National LP News can be yours!

You can download a free issue of the Libertarian Party's informative LP News by clicking "Request Info" on the LP.org home page under "Take Principled Action." Not only will you get free information on America's largest third party and what you can do to win liberty, we'll also send you an information packed issue of LP News, the Libertarian Party's official newspaper. It's free, and you'll learn what you can do to help Libertarians continue to win elections so they can keep taxes low, create jobs and stop your hard-earned money from being used to bail out bankers.

As many of you may know, our membership records were not well kept for the past two years. Thus, I am building our local membership database by pulling from 3 different sources. The bottom line is that I still have names with incorrect addresses. And, I am sure there are loyal LPH members amongst you who's name may not be in my current database. If you know a libertarian who did not get a newsletter, please email me their contact information. Thanks
